This free-standing Net Climb for playgrounds is designed to dynamically move, a feature that becomes even more challenging when a number of kids are on the net at the same time.

Climbing this net provides a great upper body exercise, and because the ropes move, it’s also great for developing balance, proprioception, grip, eye-hand coordination, and so on.

The Net Climb is 6’ wide and is available in either a 6’ height for kids up to 8 years old, or an 8’ height for older kids or adults.

You do need a 6’ fall zone all the way around this, but that fall zone can be shared with other fall zones (except for swing and slide fall zones).

Comes as a kit, but complete installation instructions are included, of course.
