This little sharing box is a fabulous addition to any playground, school ground, or home. Its large but cozy size makes it fabulous for use as a little lending library of books or art, or, if you remove the middle shelf, it's a fabulous storage box on a post!

All the wood is treated with a child friendly preservative, inside and out. In addition to the base/floor of the box, there is a second shelf, and the clear door makes it easy to see what's inside without having to open it up and rummage around.

Little Libraries come in natural wood, but they can be painted or stained if you want. One of the images below shows the Little Library stained to a reddish cedar color.

A strong roller closer holds the door shut, even in strong winds, and the handle is built into the door so there is nothing to break off or come loose.

The best part is that the support post comes with this little library, unlike all the other little libraries you find on the Internet.

The library comes pre-assembled, the post is easy to attach through the floor of the box, and all hardware is included as are installation instructions.

Library storage area measures 16" x 16" x 26" tall, so plenty of room for art supply storage, books, games, etc.

This is an unbelievably cute, gnomelike book/toy/game/sundries storage on a post, and will make a wonderful addition to your playground or your school, or even your home!
