Age Appropriateness:

With lots of use (or sometimes it‘s just abuse), whiteboards may no longer work or look the way you like!

They can be rejuvenated, so you should definitely not throw yours out!

If you‘ve tried everything to clean it, including the options listed below, then maybe it‘s time to give your whiteboard a new coat!

Our kits come complete with new undercoat and new finish coat paints, all the tools and materials you’ll need to apply them, and an instruction sheet.

Options for erasing whiteboard markers:
- use minimum 90% isopropyl alcohol. Dilute with water, if desired
- mix a teaspoon of vinegar in a cup of water
- WD-40 cleans and leaves a nice shiny surface
- try Windex
- fabric softener sheets sometimes work
